

Rutgers Geology Museum

55th Annual Open House

SATURDAY, JANUARY 28, 2023

JOIN US FOR A DAY OF GEOLOGIC CORING-THEMED LECTURES & ACTIVITIES!

Presentations in Scott Hall, Room 123

10:00 am to 11:00 am	 “Ancient Bubbles Tell Future Climate Stories” Presented by Dr. John Higgins Professor, Department of Geosciences, Princeton University
11:30 am to 12:30 pm	“What can we learn about Earth’s past, present, and future from rock and sediment cores from New Jersey?” Presented by Dr. Sean Kinney Postdoctoral Research Scientist, Columbia University
2:00 pm to 3:00 pm	 “Getting wet and muddy: Going to sea to core for climate records” Presented by Dr. Liz Sikes Professor, Department of Marine and Coastal Sciences, Rutgers University

Mineral Sale - Scott Hall Room, Room 135: 9:00 am to 3:00 pm

Early access to mineral sale available with Emerald & Diamond Level Museum Memberships*

Credit cards, cash, and checks accepted. Sales tax applied to all purchases unless tax-exempt status is provided.

Children’s Activities – Scott Hall

Hands-on activity sessions (ages 8+) will be held in Scott Hall. Sessions will run in 3 sections: 10:30AM to 11:30AM, 12:30PM to 1:30PM, and 1:30PM to 2:30PM.

Room 103	Emoji Cores
Room 104	Exploring Microfossils in Cores
Room 105	Coring the Layers Beneath Our Feet

Other Activities

- Crafts and educational activities for kids (all ages) – Geology Museum: 11:00 am to 2:30 pm
- Rock and mineral identification – Scott Hall, Room 106: 11:00 am to 2:00 pm

Please visit our website for parking information

CART Captioning Services will be available for all lectures.

Phone: 848-932-7243

Email: geologymuseum@sas.rutgers.edu

Website: geologymuseum.rutgers.edu